Quality Insights' Kidney Care project is complete! We have developed a new, interactive six-course e-learning series that uses best practices and practical experience to help primary care providers guide patients through early detection of CKD, chronic disease management, and preventive care. Providers also have an opportunity to be early adopters and advocates of SDOH tools and models that can help patients. Courses are 60 minutes in length and include interactive scenarios, additional handouts and resources. Attendance certificates are available upon completion. Free nursing continuing education credits are also available for each course.

Join us on Wednesday, February 24, 2021 at 2:00 p.m. ET, as we present an overview of the six available courses and instruction on how to access them and the free CEs available for each course.

Andrea Moore, LMSW, a Project Manager at Quality Insights, is the director of the Kidney Care project and eLearn series. She is a medical and administrative social worker with experience in quality and performance improvement, kidney disease, dialysis, public health, and project management.
